

showtime user guide

let people see what you're talking about why showtime?

You know how useful conference calls can be. Now how about if you could do it with pictures? With Showtime, the all-new web conferencing service from Powwownow, that's exactly what you get. A web conference that allows you to chat, present documents and share your desktop with your fellow conference callers, all for free.

using showtime

Like the Powwownow voice conference system, Showtime web conferencing is almost embarrassingly easy to use. It has all the facilities of more expensive web conferencing systems, but of course comes to you free of charge.

And with a little help from this guide, you'll be sharing documents, files, movies and more with friends and colleagues in no time. Just follow the step-by-step instructions detailed below.

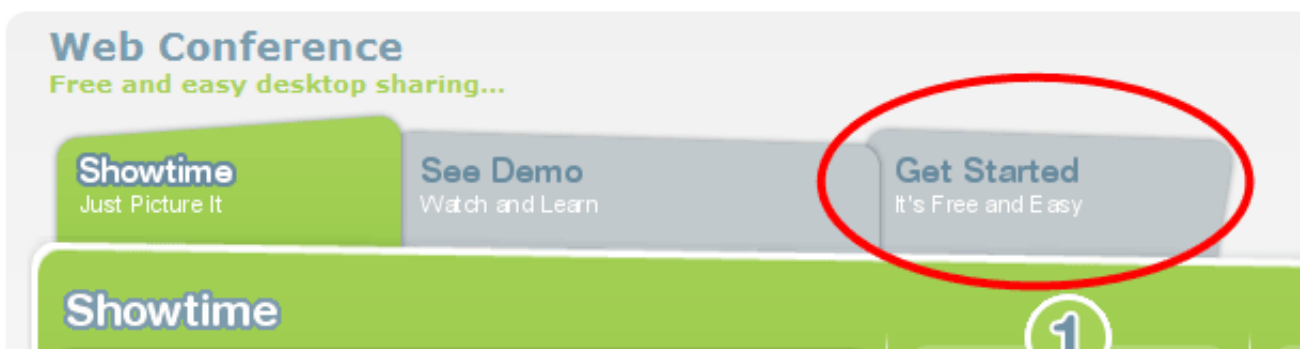

If you'd like an on-screen demo, just visit www.powwownow.co.za/Show-Time/Demo/getting started

Open your web browser and head to www.powwownow.co.za/Web-Conferencing/.

Click on the 'Get Started' tab in the middle of the screen.

If you don't already have a Powwownow PIN, you will need to complete the form and register.

Showtime application's main window will appear.

inviting your participants

To begin, click on 'Web Share' in the main Showtime window.

This will allow you to invite participants who are not yet registered with the service to join.

In the new window, click 'copy' next to the Web Share details.

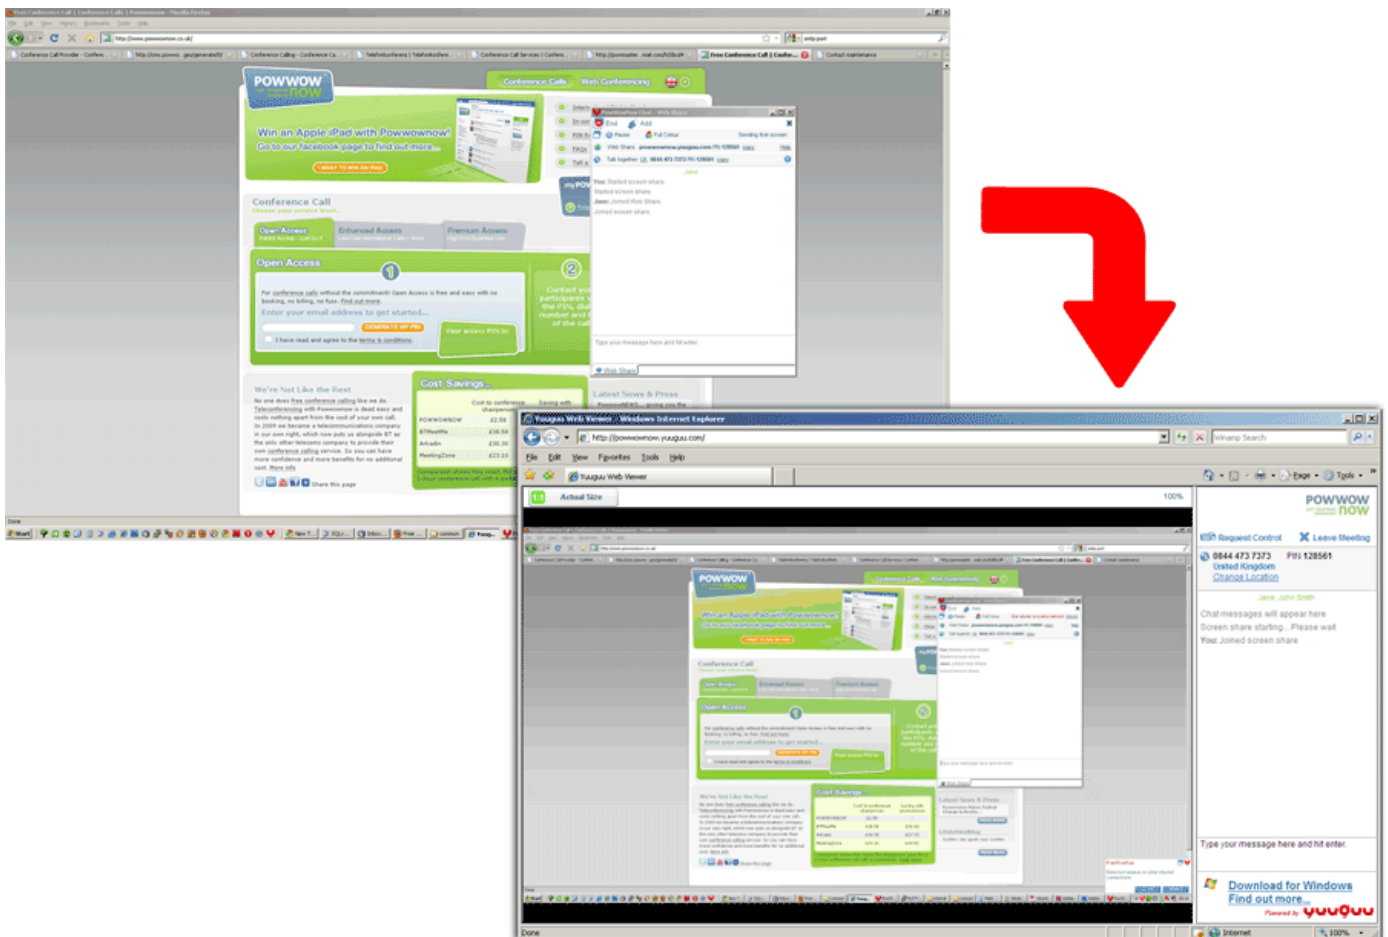

Paste the link into a new email message and send the message to the people you would like to invite.

All they have to do is click through to the URL and enter their name along with your PIN.

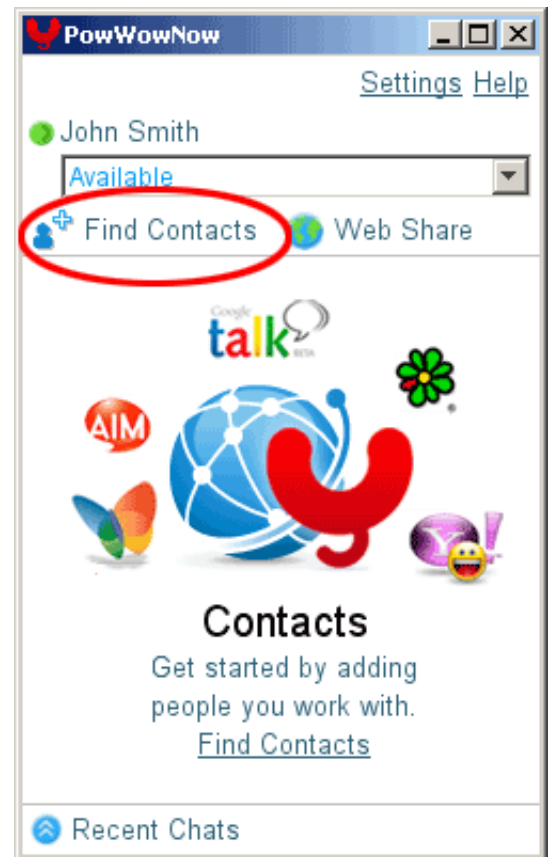

Once they have done this, you're ready to start screen sharing. The other participants will be able to see both your screen and cursor movements.

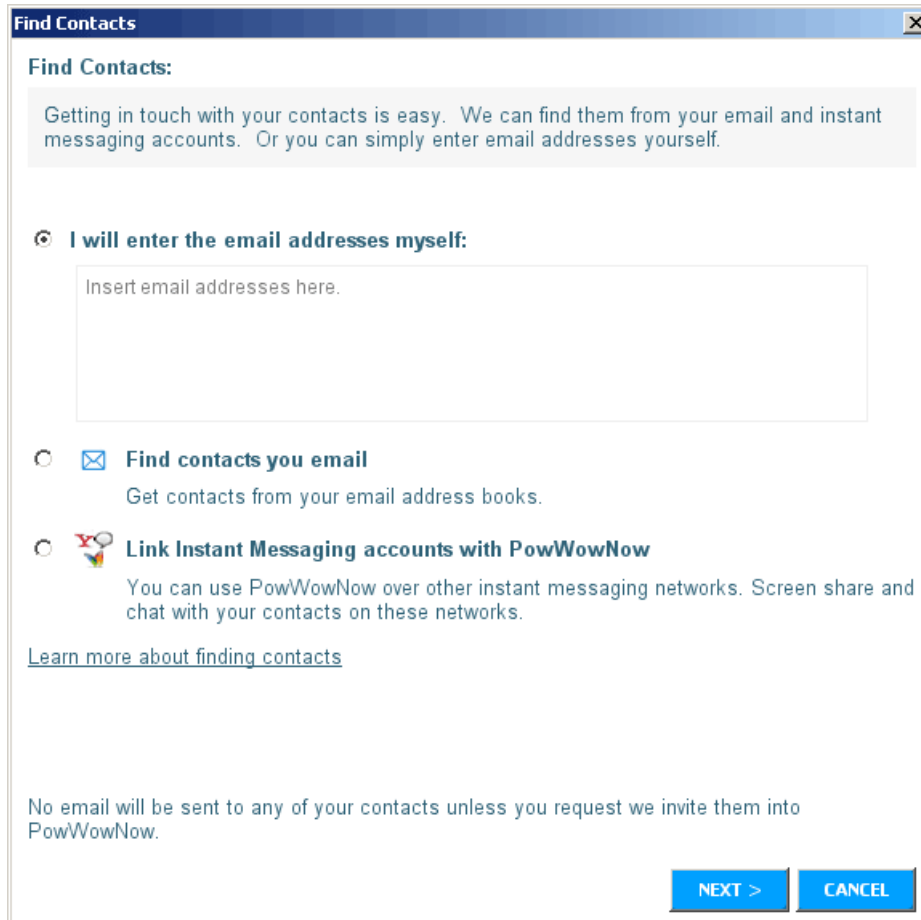

adding users

Click on 'Find Contacts' in the main Showtime window.

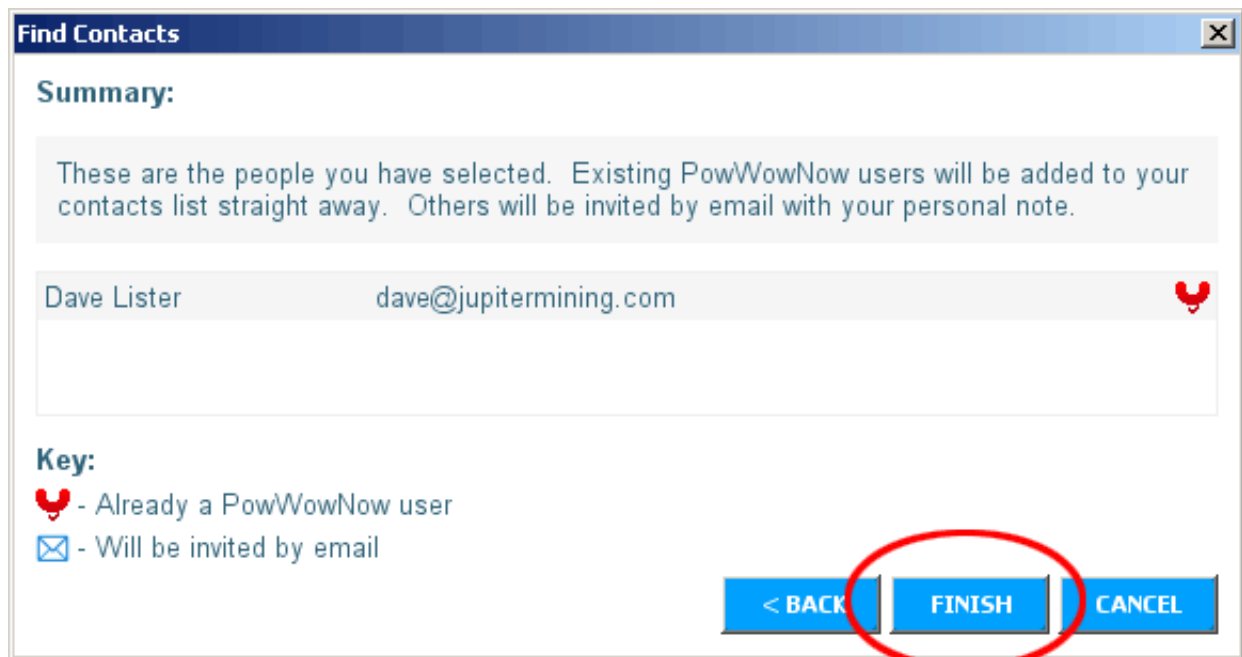

This will bring up the Find Contacts window.

You can add friends and colleagues from your email applications or enter their addresses manually.

Once you have added your contacts, click 'Finish' .

Your contacts will now appear in the main Showtime window.

Double-click on a contact to connect and start chatting.

To share your documents, files, movies and more, simply click 'Show' in the main Showtime window.

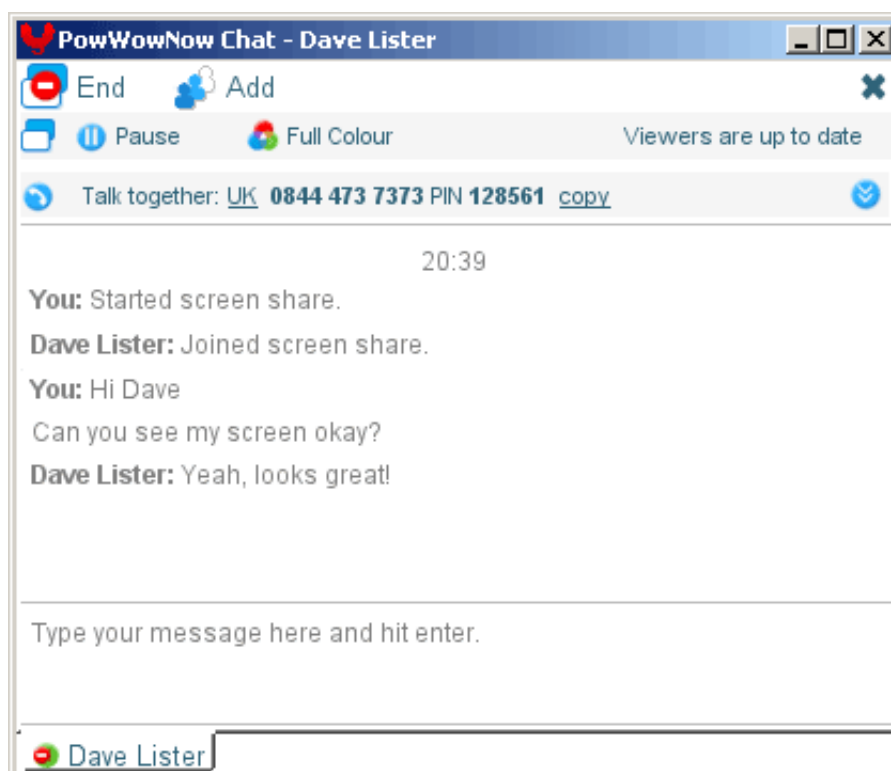

Once your contacts click 'Accept', a new window will appear.

You are now screen sharing.

You can still communicate with other participants while sharing using the chat window.

You can end the screen share at any time by clicking 'End' in the chat window.

If you want to allow another user to control the cursor movement on your computer, first click 'Show' then wait for the other user to accept and click 'Request Control'.

You will have to accept their request for control on your screen.

Now they can control the cursor and open files, folders, applications and even browser windows.

Control returns to you when your contact clicks 'Return Control' in their screen share window or when you click 'Retake Control' in your chat window.
